RISTOL DINNER MENUS CONTINUE TO BE MEATLESS

ine-Up Started at Seven o'clock This Morning at One Local Market

O MEAT ARRIVED

utcher Counters Continue To Remain Bare; No Consignments Arrive

Bristol housewives were out en masse this morning—searching for fish meat—but to no avail. The butcher's cupboard was bare except for fish and poultry.

The line-up started at an early hour, there being two patient waiters at the doors of the Acme Market on Farragut avenue at seven o'clock. By 7:45 they were joined by four others, the six at that hour continuing to grow until the store closed at 8:30. There was a big line-up for naught.

"No fresh meat" were the words which greeted them when the doors opened and they reached the meat counter. The manager of the meat department informed a Courier reporter at nine o'clock: "We expect a consignment of meat during the day. It didn't arrive then, and it's not come in this morning, whether it will arrive at all we don't know."

The line dispersed, some discouragedly making their way home, while others remained, content to have a substitute for fresh meat for the week-end. "I guess it'll be chicken for the fourth Sunday," commented one woman.

The Great A. & P. Co. market at the highway and Market street continues to tell its customers "No meat," and the housewives have to content with fish, clams and sters, and poultry.

An official at Passanante's Self-service store, Pond street, reported at "a little" lamb had arrived, but it wasn't a drop in the bucket, he added.

One fourth ward woman commented: "It certainly takes up a lot of your time. I've been waiting at the store for 1½ hours, and now I have to try some other place."

OPA today announced an increase of seven to eight cents a pound in retail prices of top grades of meat.

President Truman's top advisers convinced today that he will ask Congress to decontrol meat prices.

The President actually has no power over livestock prices under the OPA extension act of 1946. The authority to decontrol meat prices rests with the Secretary of Agriculture. Hence, the President must ask his recommendation to Congress in order to get action.

It is a foregone conclusion that Congress will carry out such a presidential recommendation. The Secretary, himself a cattle raiser, personally favors immediate decontrol of meat prices.

Mr. Truman scheduled the cabinet meeting after personally joining the conference of his top advisers on the dynamite-laden political question of meat controls.

Miss Bertha Thornton, Wilson avenue, has been spending a few days with her nieces, the Misses Agnes and Alma Eck, Philadelphia.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

CLEANED BY SCRIBES

Making plans for the North Atlantic Regional Conference which will be held in Atlantic City on October 19 and 20, forty-three Soroptimists on Monday evening attended a dinner-meeting of the Soroptimist Club of Bucks county, at Doylestown.

Guest Soroptimists were from four clubs—Lansdale, Old York Road, Easton and Quakertown—and for the local Soroptimists the event was particularly impressive since the Easton and Quakertown clubs are the "children" of the Bucks group.

President Martha S. Wooley named Mrs. Verna McClary and Mrs. James B. Cotton representatives to attend the regional event at Atlantic City, N. J.

A Bucks county resident has been appointed to the administrative faculty of Temple University, Phila. It has been announced.

She is Jane Krause, Quakertown, who will take over the position of office supervisor on the staff of Elsie Holmes, who has been transferred to the office of the president.

Miss Krause is a graduate of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, class of 1945. While a student, she was secretary of the French honorary society and a member of the historical society.

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Mr. Truman delayed action on the resignation of the industry members of the National Wage Stabilization Board. Industry's members of the New York Regional Board refused to resign, saying that while they believed all controls should be eliminated "forthwith" price and wage controls should be lifted simultaneously.

This country is not "armed to the teeth" as some critics allege. War Secretary Patterson told the AFL convention. He predicted new aviation achievements and "feats of guided missiles in a matter of months." Army engineers established a new speed record of 3,600 miles per hour in tests with a captured German V-2 rocket.

Great Britain has no atomic bombs. President Truman declared flatly. He refused to make public his reply to Prime Minister Attlee's latest note on Palestine.

A plenary session of the Conference of Paris adopted the Rumanian peace treaty with the American clause for free navigation on the Danube and equal trade opportunities for all the United Nations. Foreign Minister Molotov denounced this provision and recorded Russia's continuing opposition.

American planes were forbidden by the Army to fly over Hungary, Czechoslovakia and Rumania in sudden orders reported to have been issued at Russia's request. Later the ban was limited to Rumania.

Soviet Delegate Gromyko declared that Russia would fight any attempt to alter the United Nations Charter with its veto provision and criticized efforts to use the organization for purposes not concerning peace and security. Britain's delegate, Sir Alexander Cadogan, accused Russia of placing the Security Council under severest pressure for bringing up issues that could be better handled elsewhere.

DUST IN YOUR EYES

There are two major issues in this campaign, which are so important that they deserve to be printed in capital letters. They are:

A. NATIONAL BANKRUPTCY
B. COMMUNISM

These issues are made the foundation of the Republican platform in Pennsylvania. In that platform, the New Deal is accused of financial methods which have brought us to the threshold of going broke as a nation and as a people. Likewise the New Deal is accused of opening the door to Communistic infiltration; of helping set the stage for a Communist revolution; and in Pennsylvania, of selling the Democratic Party out to a privately operated political machine, the PAC, which is being run by pro-Communists.

These accusations form perhaps the most sensational indictment ever brought by one political party against another.

If the charges are true, no other conceivable issue is worth considering alongside the questions of whether we are going broke through debts and inflation; and whether the back door has been opened for Communistic enslavement of the American people.

The point about the present campaign which will most astonish future historians is that, faced with an indictment of this nature, the Pennsylvania list of Democratic candidates has stubbornly refused to discuss these charges.

There is only one reason why the state's New Dealers have declined to reply.

They cannot answer, and they dare not try. The evidence is overwhelming.

No living American who approaches the matter with an open mind can fail to be convinced that the charges are true. If the matter could be debated, pro and con, in the public arena (as certainly matters of so great importance ought to be debated during a campaign) 90 per cent of the voters would come to understand what many of them may not yet realize—that the Republican accusations are, if anything, too restrained rather than exaggerated.

There is the reason why, in the face of the charges formally and seriously made, and embodied both in the Republican platform and the Republican speeches, the New Dealers have ignored them.

It is the reason why, thus far, not a single Democratic spokesman has risen to take up the charges one by one and attempt to show that they are ill-founded.

Presbyterian Children To Enjoy Island Camp

Presbyterian girls and boys from Bucks and four other counties are to benefit by a summer camp which is to be established on an island which is located in the Delaware River and was bought by the Presbytery of Philadelphia. The camp will be ready next season. It was revealed when 200 ministers and elders representing 177 churches in Bucks, Berks, Montgomery, Philadelphia and Delaware counties attended a meeting of the Presbytery of Philadelphia held in the Presbyterian Church, Doylestown, Tuesday.

Announcement was made that the island, which was owned by a Boy Scout Council, is not the well-known Treasure Island, but a smaller island north of that in the river.

The all-day session was in charge of Rev. Edward B. Shaw, of Northminster Church, who acted as moderator. He also was in charge of communion services held in the morning. Luncheon was served by the ladies' auxiliary at noon.

The Rev. Norman M. Dunsmore resigned his position as head of the church in Ambler in order to go to Brazil as a missionary.

CAMP SITE AFFORDS WATER SPORTS

Lower Bucks Boy Scouts May Build Cabin Soon On Gift Tract

ALONG NESHAMINY

With announcement this week that approximately six acres of land in Bensalem Township had been donated by Otto Grupp, Jr., of Eddington, for use of Boy Scouts of Lower Bucks County, possibilities for development of same by the Scouts is being given consideration.

The tract, a portion of what was formerly the Canby farm, borders the Neshaminy Creek opposite Hulmeville Park. Mr. Grupp purchased the Canby farms several months ago.

The Boy Scout tract, situated as it is along the Neshaminy Creek where there is a good depth of water just above Hulmeville Dam, will afford Boy Scouts from the lower end ample opportunity for camping, swimming and other water sports throughout the summer.

It is the opinion of Scout leaders that the boys, who build a cabin, also some lean-tos, or any other structures found in Boy Scout camps. The tract contains a large meadow and a wood-lot.

Boy Scout troops throughout all of lower Bucks County, from Southampton to Morrisville and down, are expected to make use of the tract, which for the lower-end group will augment the County Boy Scout camp, Ockanickon.

Access to the tract is made by means of a new road into the farm. The entrance for the first section of the new thoroughfare is on Hulmeville Road, Bensalem Township, just beyond the western end of the Neshaminy Creek bridge.

Mrs. Kathryn Toner, Croydon, announced the engagement of her daughter, Theresa, to Frederick Cullen, Pond street, on Sunday.

IT'S WORTH IT
Because of what it termed an imperative need, the Civil Aeronautics Board has ordered new fire-safety rules for all passenger planes.
The new rules are designed to prevent fire in flight and are the result of investigations into several serious accidents. Among other things, they provide for fire detectors and built-in fire extinguishers in engines and all other installations where combustible fluids are used. Flame-resisting materials must be used in passenger and crew compartments. Non-inflammable hydraulic fluid must be used as soon as it becomes available, probably not for several months.
Work on the modification of the planes to which the new rules apply is scheduled to start January 1. Although the cost of the changes may average thousands of dollars a plane, according to airline estimates, the recent crash of a Belgian airliner in Newfoundland and other similar accidents make it clear that the greatest possible protection against fire is a top necessity. If money will buy more safety, the expense is fully justified.

THE ANSWER'S NOT HARD
One of the best-kept secrets of the war became public property with the Navy's disclosure, two years after the event, that in 1944 it trained 140 Russian fliers in this country as part of a 100-million-dollar lend-lease deal in which 188 Navy patrol bombers, 100 of them equipped with the Norden bombsight and the latest types of radio and radar installations, were transferred to Russia.
This operation helped to create the Russian naval air force. Before its completion Russia had no naval planes and her fliers didn't know how to operate seaplanes.
The Navy's disclosure gives rise to some speculation as to whether the Russian people also have access to this information and whether the men in the Soviet naval air force acknowledge, even among themselves, the American origin of their branch of the service.
It's undoubtedly idle speculation as far as getting an answer is concerned. But it should not be hard for any American to figure one out for himself.

Contacting the moon by radar, scientists got nothing more than an echo in return. Perhaps the folk up there have a definite policy of not talking about the neighborhood.

Such a course would be fatal to the New Deal faction, and they know it. You can call their decision to "run out" on such an argument clever political strategy; or you can call it just plain, old-fashioned cowardice—it doesn't matter much which. What does matter is that two sensational and important charges, which if true ought to muster to the Republican cause the support of every living Pennsylvanian, have been allowed to ride in a silence which is virtually a confession of guilt.

What the New Deal hopefuls are doing to get out from under a fire which they can neither face nor escape is one of the oldest dodges in the world; they are trying to change the subject.

So ancient is this trick that the slang of every language has words describing it. The French call it "dust in the eyes." We speak of "smoke-screens," "red-herrings across the trail," "swamp rabbits," etc., etc.

Unable either to face or disprove the Republican charges, the Democratic candidates are doubling and twisting like rats being run down by terriers.

They are trotting out a host of so-called "issues" which have not a thing in the world to do with the major questions of whether the New Dealers are leading us to the poorhouse, and whether they are selling American freedom down the river of Communism.

Harold Ickes, famed New Deal "hatchet-man," who prides himself far more on finding unusual words than he does on whether what he says is true or false, is frantically trying to pick a personal quarrel with Governor Martin.

Senator Guffey is busy with the fantastic proposition that the Republicans have made a deal with the Communists to embarrass him and the Democratic party.

A great outcry is being raised because an official of the State government told his staff that if they wanted to save their nation from communism and their state from being plundered, it might be worth while to consider a campaign contribution to the one agency able to perform these duties—the Republican party.

This suggestion is being called "macing," and various figures are holding up their hands in pretended horror, as though the advise was somehow corrupt and debasing—instead of being remarkably sound patriotism.

And who are these critics? That's a $64 question. They represent precisely the same band of political pressure artists who, when once before they got in power at Harrisburg, quietly and efficiently killed the state's anti-macing law.

They killed the law; and thereafter made cold-blooded extortions from state employees with impunity. Moreover, it was notorious during this regime of the Little New Deal that anyone who wanted to do business with the state had better "kick in" for the privilege.

What wasn't paid "over the barrel-head" was made up by equally reprehensible means—by "campaign contributions," by lawyer's "fees," by advertisements in favored newspapers.

The fact of the matter is that Pennsylvania has a law against macing today only because the Republican Party restored it after the Democratic Party had smuggled it out of the statute books.

At a time of the greatest crisis in national history, when the future of the American people is trembling in the balance, piffing counter-charges of the variety just listed are no more than base and cowardly evasions of the true issues—Bankruptcy and Communism.

Sportsmen's Briefs
BY JOE ELBERSON

Opened yesterday - - - the 1946 woodcock season officially opened yesterday for local hunters. It will continue to the 24th of this month. A daily bag of four birds has been set by the Federal authorities. Unless severe weather further north drives these birds on their southward migration the chances are that local gunners will get very little shooting. Most fellows agree that we'll see more woodcock in small game season than we will between Oct. 16 and Oct. 24.

Notes - - - when delegates to the Bucks County Federation of Sportsmen's Club met in Morrisville on Monday evening as the guests of the Morrisville club they were entertained by Art Nuss, nationally known fly and bait casting expert. Art gave a very fine exhibition of his ability, and in addition, he gave a very interesting talk and showed some fine movies. The business portion of the program was cut to a minimum for Nuss' benefit. Delegates from the following 11 clubs were on hand: Branch Valley, Penn Manor, Morrisville, Middletown, Edgely, Bucks County, Langhorne, New Hope, Newtown, Yardley and Bristol.

Target shoot - - - Edgely Rod & Gun Club will hold an open bluecock shoot this Sunday afternoon over their club traps. The shoot will get under way at one o'clock. Chairman Joe King says everyone is welcome and there will be shells

Pheasants released - - - the Game Commission released approximately 50 hen birds in lower Bucks county last Saturday afternoon.

Memorial shoot - - - Harlan Mercer, president of the Langhorne Rod & Gun Club, sent us the following communication:

"All clubs and sportsmen are invited to join us in an outing and shoot in memory of Lewis Baingo at the Playwicky grounds of the Langhorne Rod & Gun Club, Sunday, October 20th. All day shoot, fishing, etc.

"We hope you will join us in memory of a great sportsman and lover of the great outdoors."

Low was also well known in Bristol, having been a member of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association. He was lost in an airplane accident some months ago.

Fear - - - "Nature's skunk is the only skunk gun in creation that members of the animal kingdom fear more than any of man's lethal weapons." - Sports Afield.

From the Pennsylvania Game Commission's Field Notes - - - "A local sportsman, John Dillon, recently told me of observing two cats struggling with an object along the side of the road. Upon closer observation the object turned out to be a full-grown ringneck pheasant.

3RD WARD EAGLES TO PLAY B. M. T. S. UNDER LIGHTS HERE

Bristol Eleven Lost To Rivals at Bordentown Last Week

READY FOR VICTORY

Coach Roe Has Drilled His Protoges on Holding Ball and Tackling

Seeking revenge for its set-back of last week, the Third Ward Eagles will play the Bordentown Manual Training School tonight on the Bristol high school field. Opening kickoff is scheduled for 8.15 o'clock.

The Eagles, sponsored by the Goodwill Hose Company, No. 3, lost to the Bordentown team last Thursday at Bordentown. But it was the first tilt of the season for Joe Roe's boys and they were troubled with "fumbleitis."

It was fumbles which set up the stage for the Jersey team's score, although Banks, the left-halfback, got away on a 84-yard run after a pass interception.

In the contest last Thursday, the Eagles muffed several chances to score because they could not hold on to the ball. In the first half, the Third Ward team had the ball with in the Bordentown 29 on four different occasions but lost the ball on fumbles. On another occasion, a back ran 26 yards and when tackled on the two lost the pigskin on a fumble.

Since then Coach Roe has drilled his proteges on holding the ball and also on tackling which the boys looked kind of sloppy. They were hitting the Bordentown runners high and not spilling them.

With these faults corrected the game tonight should be closely matched. Third Ward has two fast backs in "Johnny" Rodgers and Al Cliver and either of these could break loose at any time for a score but the Bordentown team has Banks, who runs like a streak of lightning, and he is bound to cause plenty of trouble.

Most of the Eagles' players formerly played with Bristol High and Northeast Catholic. The team is small but fast and will play better ball than their first exhibition.

This game was originally scheduled to be played on Leedom's field but transferred to Bristol High at the last minute.
